WNM Communications has its Sights Set on Improving Broadband Across Luna County

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Deming, 3/15/2024 – WNM Communications has big plans for a build that will bring fiber connectivity to businesses and residences in Southern Luna County. The build, funded by a USDA Reconnect Grant that was awarded in 2022, will serve approximately 680 locations with fiber to the home, allowing for speeds of a Gig or more. The build is currently awaiting environmental clearance and is expected to be turned up within a five-year period once final approval is attained and construction can begin.

Currently, wireless internet service has been deployed that spans from the inner city of Deming out to the unserved households of the county, with a radius of approximately seven to ten miles from the equipment located on the Deming water tower. The service outpaces that of current rival providers and bestows an essential service to those who don't have many options for quality broadband. Packages for residential service offer speeds of up to 200 Mbps. Businesses can also benefit from this technology, accessing quality phone and internet to run their day-to-day operations, and offerings which include speeds up to 300 Mbps.

WNM Communications is a local communications' company who is proud to celebrate 50 years of serving Southwest New Mexico in 2024. Their team spans across Luna, Grant, Hidalgo, Catron, Dona Ana and Socorro counties and they are invested in not just providing quality service, but also in being an active part of the communities in which their neighbors, friends, and family live in. You may have met the WNM team at the park, the county fair, or seen them interacting with the community at one of the Luna County events.

"Our goal is to provide excellent customer service, every day," said WNM Communications Customer Service Representative, Shelli Watkins. "It's always fun to get out into the community and I enjoy visiting with residents and business owners about our services, I can't wait to get out and see everyone again this year!"

WNM Communications can be reached at 833-535-9662. Their team is happy to answer questions about their offerings or to help get you signed up for reliable, SUPERFAST, and affordable internet today.
